

Kia ora, we would like your view on a new consultation paper

Gas Industry Company has released a new consultation paper: “Extending the Electricity Price Review’s Final Recommendations to the Gas Market - An Assessment”. It sets out our initial assessment of whether recommendations from the Electricity Price Review should be extended to gas markets.

The consultation paper can be found here

In May last year, the government’s Electricity Price Review made 32 recommendations about whether the electricity market delivers efficient, fair and equitable prices to customers. Gas Industry Company considers it prudent to review whether those recommendations should apply to gas markets, given the similarities and links between the electricity markets, and natural gas & LPG markets.

Gas Industry Company took this project on proactively as part of our policy objective to ensure that gas is delivered to existing and new customers in a safe, efficient, fair, reliable and environmentally sustainable manner.

We intend to ask for responses from a wide range of New Zealanders, including relevant consumer stakeholders.

We would like your feedback on our initial assessment by 5pm on 4 December 2020.

Thank you in advance for sharing your perspective.
