1. Introduction

- 1.1 The Gas Governance (Critical Contingency Management) Regulations 2008 (the “Regulations”) seek to achieve the effective management of critical gas outages and other security of supply contingencies without compromising long-term security of supply.
- 1.2 The Regulations provide for Gas Industry Co, as the industry body approved under the Gas Act 1992, to:
 - under the definition of “business days”, determine certain days that are not to be business days for the purposes of the Regulations (regulation 5); and
 - under the definition of “financial year”, publish the financial year of the industry body for the purposes of the Regulations (regulation 5).

Gas Industry Co’s determinations in respect of these matters are set out in this notice.

- 2.1 New determinations may be required from time to time in accordance with the requirements of the Regulations to reflect changing circumstances and other factors.
- 2.2 The process which is intended for making a new determination is as follows:
 - Any proposed determination will be advised to all stakeholders. Where the changes are minor, or affect only specifically identifiable parties and no consultation is required under the Regulations, it is intended that the proposed change will be notified by email. Where the changes are considered to have a wide effect, or consultation is required under the Regulations, it is intended that the proposed changes will be posted on the Gas Industry Co and critical contingency operator websites, and stakeholders invited to make submissions.

- The consultation period will likely vary from two to four weeks depending on the circumstances. A shorter period may apply where the changes are minor or affect only specifically identifiable parties.
- Submissions will be sought by email and will be acknowledged by email.
- Any new determination made by Gas Industry Co will be advised to all stakeholders, together with a brief explanatory note on differences between the consultation proposal and the final result.
- A revised version of this notice will be posted on the Gas Industry Co website.
